

PRESS RELEASE FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Geometric Abstraction Artists Canada - [GAAC] Collective launches New Website Showcasing Contemporary Canadian Geometric Abstract Art

[Canada] – February 16th, 2026 – A new and dynamic creative voice has emerged on the Canadian art scene with the launch of Geometric Abstraction Artists Canada - [GAAC] Collective and its official website:

<http://www.geometricabstractionartistscanada.ca>

[GAAC] Collective is a Canadian artist collective dedicated to advancing contemporary geometric abstraction in Canada. Through collaborations, innovation, and public engagements, [GAAC] Collective brings together professional Canadian artists whose practices reflect bold, rigorous, and forward-looking approaches to geometric abstraction.

Geometric Abstraction Artists Canada - [GAAC] Collective announces the launch of its new digital platform, marking the emergence of a national collective dedicated to advancing contemporary geometric abstraction within the Canadian art context.

[GAAC] Collective brings together artists from across the country whose practices engage geometry as both a formal language and a conceptual framework – one that continues to evolve in response to material, perceptual, and cultural inquiry. While grounded in the legacy of Canadian geometric abstraction, the collective foregrounds current approaches that challenge, expand, and reimagine the genre’s possibilities today.

The formation of [GAAC] Collective is informed in part by Geoform (2005-2020), the international online scholarly project initiated by Julie Karabenick, which fostered critical discourse around abstract and geometric practices. Building on this foundation, [GAAC] Collective operates as a site of dialogue, exchange, and experimentation, bridging historical lineage with contemporary practice.

[GAAC] Collective Members

- Sydney Blum — Tatamagouche, NS
- Carol Cooper — Thunder Bay, ON
- Blaise DeLong — Toronto / Rockport, ON
- Richard Martin — Kingston, ON
- Walter Procska — Toronto, ON
- Brigitte Radecki — Montreal, QC
- Heidi Spector — Montreal, QC
- Gillian Turnham — Peterborough, ON

Website Features

Visitors to the [GAAC] Collective website will find:

- About [GAAC] Collective: The collective's full manifesto (downloadable), along with an article on Geoform—the international online scholarly project led by Julie Karabenick (2005–2020) that inspired the formation of [GAAC] Collective.
- Artist Portfolios: Individual profiles featuring artist statements, biographies, selected works, and contact information.
- Exhibitions & Projects: A virtual gallery showcasing past [GAAC] Collective exhibitions and collective initiatives.
- Journal / Blog & Newsletter: News, announcements, upcoming events, artist-to-artist interviews, and critical commentary on geometric abstraction in Canada and beyond.

"We are incredibly excited to launch our website and share our work with the world. This platform is more than just an online gallery; it's a window into our creative process and an invitation to join our conversation about the future of Canadian Geometric Abstract art."

Call to Action:

To learn more about the [GAAC] Collective, visit the newly launched website:
<http://www.geometricabstractionartistscanada.ca>

Follow [GAAC] Collective on Instagram:

@gaaccollective

<https://www.instagram.com/gaaccollective>

Media Contact:

Carol Cooper

Coordinator - Geometric Abstraction Artists Canada - [GAAC] Collective

Email: gaaccollective@gmail.com

Website: <http://www.geometricabstractionartistscanada.ca>

Instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/gaaccollective>

The logo consists of a solid blue square. Inside the square, the text "[GAAC]" is written in a large, bold, white, sans-serif font. Below it, the word "Collective" is written in a smaller, white, sans-serif font.

[GAAC]
Collective